

ECAO's R. Hugh Carroll Safety Award

Symtech is proud to share some exciting news – we have been selected as the recipient of the "R. Hugh Carroll Safety Award" for contractors with over 250 employees, presented by the Electrical Contractors Association of Ontario (ECAO).

Established in 1999, the R. Hugh Carroll Safety Award honors companies that exemplify the same high standards of safety leadership that Mr. Carroll demonstrated throughout his career.

This is a significant honor that recognizes our collective commitment to Health and Safety across all job sites. Among many impressive submissions from across the electrical industry, Symtech stood out as a leader in creating and maintaining safe work environments. Our strong safety record, ongoing dedication, and consistent day-to-day efforts have set us apart from our competitors.

This award goes far beyond policies and procedures – It reflects your hard work, vigilance, and dedication on the ground. Whether you're completing your PSIs, leading toolbox talks, reporting hazards, or simply looking out for one another, it all matters – and it makes a difference.

Congratulations to every single member of Team Symtech. Let's continue to keep safety at the heart of everything we do.
