

2026 Symtech ECAO Safety Awards

Symtech is proud to share some outstanding news! For the second consecutive year, we have been recognized by the Electrical Contractors Association of Ontario (ECAO) for our exceptional commitment to workplace safety.

This year, Symtech is honored to once again receive both the “R.H. Carroll Safety Award” and the “Recognition of Safety Achievement Award”—an accomplishment that reflects our unwavering Safety-First culture and the dedication of our entire team.

Adding to this incredible achievement, we are also proud to celebrate Adam Eggleton, our Electrical Superintendent, as the recipient of the “2026 Safety Leadership Award”. This well-deserved recognition highlights Adam’s commitment to proactively enhancing workplace safety, identifying potential hazards, and setting a strong example for others through leadership and innovation.

These awards are a testament to the daily efforts of every member of Team Symtech. Whether on-site or in the office, your commitment to maintaining the highest safety standards continues to set us apart as an industry leader.

Congratulations to Adam and to every team member on this remarkable achievement. Let’s continue to keep safety at the heart of everything we do.
